

The Patient Revolution School: Foundations of Care

Become a care activist!

COURSE OVERVIEW

Join us for a deep dive into the ideas that animate The Patient Revolution and the movement for care, build skills for sensing the signs of industrial healthcare and identifying factors that impact the conditions for care, and get support for your own mini-revolutions.

Foundations of Care is open to everyone with a connection to healthcare, anywhere in the world - patients, caregivers, clinicians, healthcare professionals, researchers, designers, students, and more. All who are interested in radical change in healthcare are welcome.

By the end of the course, you will have gained confidence and competence in talking about care and the impact of industrialized healthcare. You will identify your own local and immediate initiative (mini-revolution) to kickstart your activism. You will be welcomed into a community prepared to offer support, resources, and inspiration as you join the movement for careful and kind care.

- The Foundations of Care course is free for all
- Cohorts are small to allow for meaningful interaction with fellow learners and the facilitator
- Community calls will be scheduled during the course based on availability of participants.
- Foundations of Care is currently offered in English, but will be available in other languages in the future

The three-week course is broken up into five self-directed learning modules, a dynamic community discussion board, and opportunities to gather virtually for discussions with fellow participants and members of our extended community.
